Tolerance and Harmony towards Cultural & Regional factors

Based on the lines quoted “There is no religion better than love, no color better than the color of happiness and no language better than the language of compassion.” the institute puts lot of efforts/initiatives in bringing an inclusive environment. The students and staff of this institute are from different cultural background and from different states. The staff and students belong to different communities like Hindus, Muslims, Christians etc. being their mother tongues different like Hindi, Telugu, Tamil, Malayalam etc. The institution believes that “Line of control should be a garden, a place of art and cultural festival.” and a very effective approach to maintain tolerance and harmony even though they belong to different communities and with different culture by organizing the events which bring the harmony and integrity among the students. The students actively participate in various extracurricular activities including Dance, Street Plays, Social Awareness programs, Drama, etc. Constitution day is celebrated sensitizing students about the Constitution of India and also creating awareness about practicing social harmony. Faculty members and students take pledge to preserve unity, integrity and security of the nation.

Communal Factors

Students have formed various clubs at the campus levels which also support and propagate the idea of diverse cultures. The institutional efforts/initiatives in the regard are as follows:

- The college celebrates religious festivals which includes Ganesha Festival, Saraswati Pooja etc. giving spiritual sense to the students/faculty of the Institute. Cultural activities are organized in annual social gathering for the student. Cultural day is celebrated where students wear clothes representing their culture.
- Traditional dance provides enthusiasm and team spirit among students. The college organizes annual social gathering every year. It is a team event held under the Chairmanship of the Principal and is entirely organized by the cultural committee including students and faculties. It helps in enhancing the leadership, organizing qualities and inculcating a sense of responsibility besides sheer entertainment for the students. It includes a number of intra and inter-college competitions. Winners of the competitions are awarded certificates, trophies and cash prizes.
